Annemarie Conte dares to go plastics-free for a week.

THE HYGIENE ISSUE Have you ever seen a plastic-free toothbrush? That's because they don't exist. And while some of you out there can mix up a baking soda paste and slather it on, I can't. So I break the rules again. When the bristles on my current toothbrush wear out, though, I'll get one made by Preserve or RADIUS, which use recycled materials.
